Monday, April 22, 2013 | 5:00 pm - 7:00 pm

Wildflowers of many colors brighten up the forest floor in the springtime! In this special Earth Day program, Jill Vance, Monroe Lake Interpretive Naturalist, will teach some skills for wildflower identification and help participants make a simple wildflower craft. You can also pick up a list of upcoming local wildflower hikes, and enjoy these blooms for real! Drop-in, for ages 6 to 12.
