

Center for the Study of History and Memory

Website <http://www.indiana.edu/~cshm/>

Address 400 North Sunrise Drive
Weatherly Hall North, Room 122
Bloomington, IN 47405

Description

The center's mission encompassed archival, pedagogical, and research goals in the field of oral history, with particular emphasis on the history of Indiana and the Midwest, and to address the growing interdisciplinary field of memory studies, of which oral history is one important facet. The Center for the Study of History and Memory continues to build upon its work in the field of oral history while broadening the range of its research projects to address the many ways that people remember, represent, and use the past in public and private life.
