This is the first book of the Kane Chronicles. It's about two kids who are brother and sister who have grown up apart from each other. The kids were split up after the death of their mother. Carter has lived with his dad, who is an Egyptologist and an archeologist. He has traveled all over the world. Sadie has lived in London with her grandparents (her mother's parents). After their father goes missing, the kids find out that the Egyptian gods are real and that they are descendants of the great pharaohs. The book is about their adventure to find their dad.
